

1 45614/PAN/X2/134065

ABSTRACT

5 A router is configured to provide dynamic policy based in accordance with a plurality of traffic parameters in the packet. The router includes a processor that determines a destination for a packet in accordance with the result of a comparison of a plurality of traffic parameters in the packet with a predetermined traffic profile. The router processor 10 may then forward the packet on a selected one of a plurality of possible routes, in accordance with a dynamic routing protocol.

15
20
25
30
35